What's new in TeamsJS version 2.0

There are two significant changes between TeamsJS 1.x.x versions and v.2.0.0 and later:

- Callback functions now return Promise objects. Most functions with callback parameters in TeamsJS v.1.12 have been modernized to return a JavaScript Promise object for improved handling of asynchronous operations and code readability.
- APIs are now organized into capabilities. You can think of capabilities as logical groupings of APIs that provide similar functionality, such as `authentication`, `dialog`, `chat`, and `calendar`. Each namespace represents a separate capability.
